

BOYD'S COURSE ENDORSED

Second District Democrats Satisfied with His Veto of the Newberry Bill.

RESOLUTIONS AND CONGRATULATIONS

The Men Who Called the Meeting Denounced as Traitors to Democracy - An Harmonious Affair.

HASTINGS, N.H., May 1.—Special Telegram to THE BEE.—The conference of delegates of the Second congressional district called to assemble in this city today was largely attended and resembled much the old time democratic congressional convention. Twenty-four counties were represented by delegates. Secret caucuses were the order of the day. Inflammatory resolutions were for their detraction. The speaker, calling the conference approached and the evening session and considerable prevailed. Bro. Bates' speech was loudly cheered for its denunciation of the "New England" friends of the Newberry bill has spacious given. The conference was called to order in the afternoon by J. J. Loring and Isaac Adams. It was presided over by the elected chairman and Charles W. Allen, sec-

The committee on resolutions had been elected for fully one hour when the conference reconvened and a committee was appointed by Mr. Lathrop to wait on the resolutionists to ascertain how soon the committee would be ready to report. Mr. Buntz made a stormy speech before the committee on resolutions and secured a majority report as follows:

The democrats in conference assembled in the city of Hastings, Neb., on May 4, 1890, and greetings in the democracy of the S.

Resolved, That the great question of tariff reform is a most vital issue before the people today and cannot be overestimated by any other question until the people are relieved from the exactions of the rubber tariff known as the McKinley Bill.

Resolved, That we are in favor of a railroad bill regulating freight rates on lumber, coal, grain, live stock, farm machinery and other other articles as will directly benefit the agricultural interests.

Resolved, That we congratulate the state upon the election of Governor James E. Boyd, and we hereby express our confidence in his ability and integrity and we pledge our administration our undivided support.

The minutes reported as follows:

Resolved, That we congratulate the state

By the election of Governor James E. Boyd that we were expected to find confidence in the boys and their leaders. But we found that we endorse his administration and pledge to him our undivided support.

His campaign preached apparently a useful and sane doctrine, but it was a double-headed banner in the shape of majority and minority reports relating to the endorsement of Governor Boyd's position on the Governor's bill for the purpose of agreeing to the proposed Bill. But, Barry championed the majority report while Alice of Sausalito represented the minority. He appealed for harmony in an eloquent speech, but the majority report was not endorsed. Boyd while the majority report did not. A division of the house was had on the question of endorsing the majority report. The conference delegates then appeared for harmony by members of the conference. The minority report was adopted amidst the wildest enthusiasm by a vote of 10-9. The conference delegates began to leave the hall and the mistake was made, the meeting being wider than ever.

Resolutions were read condemning Hagar and Lorraine as well as the democracy by the students. The resolutions were read by the students and the meeting was over.

cently the storm brewing and remained at home. Batty is blue over the outcome.

SANTA CRUZ VISITED.

Cordial Welcome Accorded the President-Banquet in Frisco

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., May 1.—The presidential party arrived here at 8 o'clock this morn-

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 1.—President Harrison and party returned from Santa Cruz shortly before noon today and were tendered a reception at the chamber of commerce. The chamber of commerce was beautifully decorated. A dense crowd surrounded the president's carriage and cheered him as he entered the building. The members of the various commercial

The president in his response said in part that he had been subjected during his stay in California in some respects to the same treatment which Mexican policemen accord a tramp-like been kept "moving on." Their cordial greetings," he said, "are more exultation than their wife and perhaps safer for the constitution." Laughter. I am glad," added the president, "to stand in the presence of this assemblage of business men, have tried to make this a business administration. [Applause.] Of course we cannot fully separate politics from national administration, but I have felt that every citizen and every public officer owes his best service to the people without distinction of party. In administering affairs, trials, we were in a very strict sense, merely in a figurative sense, your servant. It has been my desire that in every branch the public service there should be an improvement. I have stimulated all the secretaries and received a stimulus from them. An endeavor in all the departments of the government to give you as perfect service possible. Great applause. This we owe you, but if I were pursuing party ends should feel that I was branch methods.

establishing my party is the confidence of the people. I feel that we have come to a point where American industries, American commerce and American influence are to be revived and extended. [Applause.] American sentiment and feeling was never more controlling than now, and I do not see the least likelihood of its changing. I am patriotic, but to embrace all loyal citizens, whether born or adopted, who have a love of our flag in their hearts. [Groceries.] I believe there are methods by which we shall put the American flag up the seas again. "Anyhow, in the midst of shipping," added the president, "we're in a similar condition to the merchant when the practice of sending traveling men on the road was first inaugurated. Declined to take up with such an innovation, but so found he had to do it or go out of business. The great commercial governments of the world have stimulated their shipping interests by direct or indirect subsidies, which we have been saying 'no, we prefer the Postmaster General Wamamaker and Secretary Russell spoke, and after lunch partly proceeded to Mechanical pavilion where the May day festival of the Grand Army of the Republic was in progress. The banquet at the Palace hotel, tonight honor of President Harrison was attended 250 guests. The affair was conducted on elaborate scale and was the closing feast of the president's visit to this city. On a table occupied by the president was a banner of roses fifteen feet long and three feet wide.

The other ladies were also decorated with large number of flowers. The principal sport of the evening was made by the president.

♦♦♦♦♦

Gold Ordered for Export.

New York, May 1.—Gold sold amounting to $2,000,000 was ordered for export today.

100